

Master's Journey

November 2006

Dear Friends, Alumni and Students,

Welcome to the inaugural issue of Master's Journey, an e-zine of news, information and commentary about the incredible and exciting world of Theological Distance Education!

Our field is the world, our subject - God's Word. Christ, the Incarnate Word is the Living Embodiment of the Word, and the Bible is the Living Expression of Word. The mission of Master's Journey is to share Christ with the world through the study of the Bible. Master's Journey will provide a scholarly platform for biblical interpretation, history, theology, philosophy, apologetics, and critical commentary on current social and cultural events. For those who value the purity, simplicity and power of the biblical message, Master's Journey will be an important resource you can use in advancing the distinctive message of Christ around the world today.

Master's International School of Divinity is now serving students around the globe in more than 70 countries. Wherever God is working with His people, we want to be able to provide theological distance education that is both Christ-centered and Bible-based. Master's Journey will cast a spotlight on this unique ministry. We believe one of the most challenging issues facing the twenty-first century Church is how to educate both ministers and laymen across the vast cultures of the world.

As the official publication of Master's International School of Divinity, the editorial and contributing writers of Master's Journey (MJ) will work to showcase God's work, encourage supporters and offer stimulating commentary on the issues and challenges of serving the ministry education needs of the church around the world. MJ will provide thought-provoking reading and hopefully challenge you to think outside your comfort zone. Whether you're a pastor, evangelist, minister, missionary, church administrator or active layman, MJ can be a valuable source of news, information and inspiration.

Master's Journey pledges to bring the vital ministry of theological distance education to you via the worldwide internet, to your computer, at home, at work, at your convenience. Wherever you are in the world today, be sure to stay connected to Master's Journey.

Serving the distance education needs of the Body of Christ!

Sincere Wishes for a Happy Holiday Season!
